

James Fairfax Theatre

The James Fairfax Theatre is a 244 seat (plus three wheelchair-accessible spaces) versatile venue, with multiple presentation options, a superior cinema-quality projection and audio system, and an array of theatrical lighting and sound equipment, all housed within the iconic National Gallery.

The James Fairfax Theatre has the capability for conferences, symposiums, staff training, film screenings, musical performance, dance and theatre.

Specifications

- Max Capacity: 244 seats
- Three wheelchair-accessible positions
- Height adjustable lectern with microphone, light, and AV system control via Creston touch panel
- Video conferencing enabled
- Greenroom with mirror (amenities available nearby)
- 4k, 40 000 lumen digital laser projector
- 7.1 surround sound audio system
- 6 x wireless headset/belt pack talkback systems
- 17m x 5m sprung timber floor
- 12 modular carpeted stage units (1m x 2m x 300mm OR 600mm) available by arrangement
- Yamaha C9 Grand Piano available by arrangement

Detailed technical specifications available on request.